

---

Writer Submission Guidelines

Contributed by Administrator
Monday, 08 October 2007
Last Updated Sunday, 06 July 2008

If you are a writer and are interested in writing for us...

All story submissions should be directed toward admin.rte23@gmail.com

Writer Submission Guidelines: RTE-23 is currently looking for works of fiction. We are open to most types of stories, but we will never accept stories of underage sexual content (consensual adults of 18 and over, please), incest, or bestiality. We prefer submissions sent via e-mail in any of the following formats: DOC, HTML, ODT, RTF, and TXT. Please identify your story file in the following manner: Name (real or pen name)AddressPhone NumberE-mail addressTitleType of story (category type abbreviations where applicable) In your e-mail please give a brief summary of your story.

Example:Dude Smith100 South South Street Anywhere, AL 00000 (000)-555-5555dude.smith@cheesemail.comThe Great American Tale

Josephina Q. Public is a mild manner girl with a hidden secret. She works at the National Library as one the city's best data specialists, but at night she undergoes a demoniac transformation. When the moon is full she transforms into a beast. Josephina manages to keep her condition a secret until one night&hellip;

Your summary starts at the beginning of the story, explains a basic abridgment of your story, and how your story will end. It is not necessary to give physical descriptions of main characters or settings, but give an explanation of all the transformations with how, when, and why they occur. Just as anything you write, your submission should demonstrate your unique style. Include aspects of the Point of View, Plot, Conflict/ Resolution, or any snippet of quality dialogue.